INTRODUCTION.

The following pages are not intended to give a full account of the Bartow Family, but merely an outline genealogy, with the sources whence I have been gathering for years a vast amount of family matters, now in manuscript and for a future and complete genealogy of the family.

The Bartows of Westchester were always a very clannish family, and each member was acquainted with and visited every other member. I have been informed that at these visits, the older ones present would frequently introduce the subject of the family in olden times, and tell some anecdote of an ancestor. This was especially the case with John Bartow, who lived till the year 1802, at the advanced age of 87, beloved by all his relatives, by whom he was familiarly called Old Uncle John.

This love of family history my father inherited and transmitted to me.

The tradition in all branches of the family has been that we descend from a General Bertaut, who came from Brittany and settled in England; and the family always took it for granted that he was the father of Rev. John Bartow, the first of the family who came to America.

From investigation made by Edgar J. Bartow, it appears that General Bertaut was a remoter ancestor, and not the father of Rev. John Bartow. Before this investigation was made appeared the pedigree of the Bartow family in Bolton's History of Westchester County, making the Rev. John Bartow the son of the General. This pedigree was furnished by Edgar J. Bartow to Mr. Bolton from one written by Rev. John V. Bartow, now in possession of his daughter, Mrs. Montell, of Astoria. It has many inaccuracies — they will appear by a comparison of it with the following pages. The first attempt at anything like family research was made by Edgar J. Bartow, who had the matriculation book of Christ College, England, examined, where Rev. John Bartow was educated, to find the place of his birth. From these records he learned that the Rev. John Bartow was born at Crediton, in Devonshire, and was the son of Doctor Thomas Bartow, of the same place. This correction Mr. Bolton makes in his History of the Church of Westchester County. Business prevented Mr. Bartow from making further inquiries about matters in which he took such an interest. It was for me to visit the native place of the first emigrant to this country, which I did in the month of June, 1871. All that I could gather in reference to the family is embodied in these pages. I found the records of the baptisms of the children of Doctor Thomas Bartow, but not his own, from which I inferred that he had moved into the Parish. General Bertaut, of Brittany, it is probable, came into England after the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, A. D. 1572, and would be the father, or more likely the grandfather, of Dr. Thomas, of Crediton.

At an early age I became interested in family matters, and when twelve years of age, I began collecting genealogical material, which has now swelled into a large volume. I first gathered as much as I could from aged members of the family, who told me anecdotes of different members, gave me old books that were in the family, old letters, and other relics. Then I visited different churchyards, and copied the inscriptions, and obtained copies of wills and parish records.

It was my hope to have published what I have collected in a book to be enriched with numerous engravings of several members of the family, country seats and churches, but my duties are such as to prevent my giving that attention to it that I desire, and my means too limited to give it to the family in such elegant form as I think so much laborious research deserves.

With these difficulties to meet, a few years since I handed over to a member of the family all I had gathered on the subject, with the hope that he might be able to accomplish what I had failed to do. To complete what I had begun, he has worked unweariedly, by correspondence and personal investigation, gathering a vast amount of additional information, and a great deal that I could never have obtained.

The following pages are only meant to give a faint outline, being merely the names of all who have borne the surname of Bartow, descended from the Rev. John Bartow, the first who came to this country, with references to the books in which any of the family are mentioned. My object is to preserve some portion at least of all I have collected; and, by giving the sources of information, to assist any future historian of our family.

GENERAL BERTAUT,<sup>1</sup> the first of the family of whom we have an account, removed from Bretagne on account of the religious persecutions and settled in England. It has been supposed that he fled at the time of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, till recent investigation showed that the family were in England long before. He may have left France after the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, A. D. 1572.

It has been the tradition in the family that he came from Bretagne; and the arms of the family, which several of the members of the family possessed in the last century, agree with those of the ancient house of the Bertauts of Bretagne, whose ancestor was one of those valiant soldiers who distinguished himself in the Holy Wars. The arms of the Bertauts of Bretagne are D'or a le bande de sable, chargee de trois bezants d'argent accompagnee de six annelets de geules suis en orle. Of this family was Francis Bertaut of Donnai, whose sons were John Bertaut, Bishop of Seez in 1606, and Pierre, Sire de Noisi, Gentleman of the King's Chamber. Pierre was the father of Frances, the celebrated Lady Motteville,<sup>1</sup> and Francis Bertaut, Ecuyer. The latter, born 1621, was Seigneur de Freauville and Courcelles, and had John Bertaut, Ecuyer.

Another family of Bartows in this country descend from Francis Barteau,<sup>2</sup> who came from Paris, France, with his son Francis, and settled at Huntington, L. I., and married for a second wife a lady who came over as a companion to the Governor of Pennsylvania's wife, and m. James Morris, of London, b. 1675, d. 1779. Francis Barteau, son of the first Francis by his first wife, removed from Huntington to Fire Place, L. I., in 1741, the place remaining in the family till 1871. He m. Margaret Morris, d. of his stepmother, and had 1. Morris Barteau, k.d. in the French War; 2. Temperance, m. Mr. Rose, and their son, Nathan, took the name of Barteau, and was father of Hon. David Barteau, Judge of Broome Co., N. Y., whose family have anglicized the name to Bartow; 3. Mary Barteau, m. Henry Somers; 4., 5., 6. Benjamin, Margaret, and Phoebe, d. y.; 7. Francis Barteau; 8. Stephen Barteau; and 9. Clemence Barteau.

John Barteau came over with his brother, the first

Francis, and left two sons, who anglicized the name to Barto, namely, John and Francis: 1. John Barto, b. 1709, lived at Nine Partners, Dutchess Co., N. Y., had three sons, Benjamin Barto, Samuel Barto, and William Barto, ancestor of Hon. Henry D. Barto, of Trumansburgh, N. Y. 2. Francis Barto, b. 1711, d. March 26, 1786, at Huntington, L. I.; by Mary, his wife, who d. in 1790, he left six sons and three daughters, one of whom, Morris, was father of Obadiah Barto, of Hempstead, L. I., from whom I obtained some of this account. It does not appear that this family are connected with the Bartows of Westchester. The two brothers Francis Barteau and John Barteau came from Paris, were born, say about 1670-72, were not brothers of Rev. John Bartow — may possibly be distant cousins in France.

DOCTOR THOMAS BARTOW.

DR. THOMAS BARTOW,<sup>1</sup> the first of the family of whom we have any record, was living at Crediton in 1672. His wife, Grace . . . ., was buried in the churchyard of the Holy Cross, Crediton, Jan. 25, 1676.

CHILDREN:—

1. John, of whom hereafter.
2. Anthony Bartow,<sup>2</sup> baptised March 11, 1673, in the Church of the Holy Cross, Crediton, and there buried, May 20, 1675.
3. Mary Bartow,<sup>3</sup> baptised Dec. 8, 1675, in the Church of the Holy Cross, Crediton; married Doctor Haskins, of England.
4. Thomas Bartow,<sup>4</sup> baptised April 24, 1676, in the Church of the Holy Cross, Crediton, and there buried Nov. 12, 1678. The date of this burial may be that of the father, as we find the name afterwards in England, and as Doctor Bartow's burial is not recorded otherwise in Crediton, though he may have died at Pampisford, where his son was vicar, before removal to this country. The burial records of Pampisford for that period are lost.

In the churchyard of the Holy Cross, Crediton, is a tombstone to Elisabeth Barto,<sup>5</sup> who died at Crediton,

Aug. 10, 1858, the wife of William Backwell. On inquiry, I learned she was the daughter of Robert Melhuish, of Sandford, whose mother was named Elisabeth Barto. I learned from Mrs. Elisabeth Tucker, of Tiverton, the daughter of Thomas Melhuish, eldest son of this Elisabeth Barto and Thomas Melhuish, senior, that her grandmother, Elisabeth Barto, was born in 1746, brought up at Dartmoor, died at Crediton, and was buried at Colebrooke. She had no brother; her sister Martha died unmarried, and she herself used to tell the family that she was "the only living inheritor of the name in England."

If the record of the burial of Thomas Bartow, in 1678, be that of Doctor Thomas Bartow, then Thomas, the son, may possibly be the grandfather of this Elisabeth Barto.

The records of the parishes of Colebrooke and Sandford make no mention of any of the name.

JOHN BARTOW, 1740-1816.

SON OF THEOPHILUS BARTOW.

JOHN BARTOW,<sup>1</sup> eldest son of Theophilus Bartow and Bathsheba Pell, his wife, born at Westchester 1740, lived at Pelham, in the old Manor House of his grandfather, Lord Pell. He was wealthy, and a great friend to St. Peter's Church, Westchester, of which he was vestryman. At the old manorial residence of his ancestors, Mr. Bartow kept open house to all his relatives and friends, and his home was the centre of attraction to the society of the neighborhood, from the hearty welcome they always received. Col. Burr, who had married his first cousin, was an intimate friend and frequent visitor at the house. It was at Mr. Bartow's house, after his removal to N. Y. City, that Burr was kindly received after his return from exile. Mr. Bartow sold his estate towards the close of his life, and lived in Spring street, N. Y. He died in 1816, and was the last of the Bartows who was interred in the family cemetery at Westchester. The funeral was attended by Robert Bartow, his grandson, the Reids of Eastchester, and many others of the family. The family of Robert Bartow now reside on a portion of the estate

In secular matters Mr. Bartow was identified with every movement that concerned the progress and improvement of Brooklyn, where he had taken up his residence in 1830. He took a warm interest in the laying out of streets, erected the first brownstone house in Brooklyn, and built at his own cost the stone archways and inclined plane from the Heights to the East River. In 1846, he was chosen by the Democratic party as its candidate for Mayor, but he declined the honor. He d. Sept. 6, 1864, of paralysis, and was

Amen.

Arms of Lawrence:—Argent, a cross, raguly, gules. Granted to Sir Robert Lawrence, by Richard I., for his valor at the siege of Acre, A. D. 1191.

These arms are on the tomb of Henry Lawrence, Lord President of the Privy Council, in St. Margaret's churchyard, Herts; and the same arms and crest are appended to the wills of John and William Lawrence, now on file in N. Y.

Arms of Jennings, of Acton, co. Suffolk:—Argent, a chevron gules, between three griffins' heads, erased, each having a plummet pendant in their beaks, sable.

Arms of Hicks:—Gules, a fesse, wavy, between three fleurs-de-lis, or.

RYDER.

I do not know the correct spelling of the name. In the "N. Y. Marriage Licenses" I find the wife of John Bartow is given as Mary Ryder.<sup>3</sup> Two of their children (Augustus and Stephen) have names which occur for the first time in the Bartow family. I conclude that they are derived from their mother's family. Accordingly, I find a Stephen Rider, of the Presbyterian church at Jamaica, in 1713, and another Stephen Rider, of Jamaica, in 1775. Mrs. John Bartow had a sister, Letitia Ryder, who resided with Basil J. Bartow, at Westchester.

NOTES.

In Bolton's History of the Church in Westchester County, p. 38, occurs the name Noah Bartow. On examination of the original, the Westchester Vestry Book, the name is distinctly written, Noah Barton.

P. 376 of the same book occurs the name Benjamin Bartow. This name is Benjamin Barton, who was well known to the Reids and others of Eastchester.

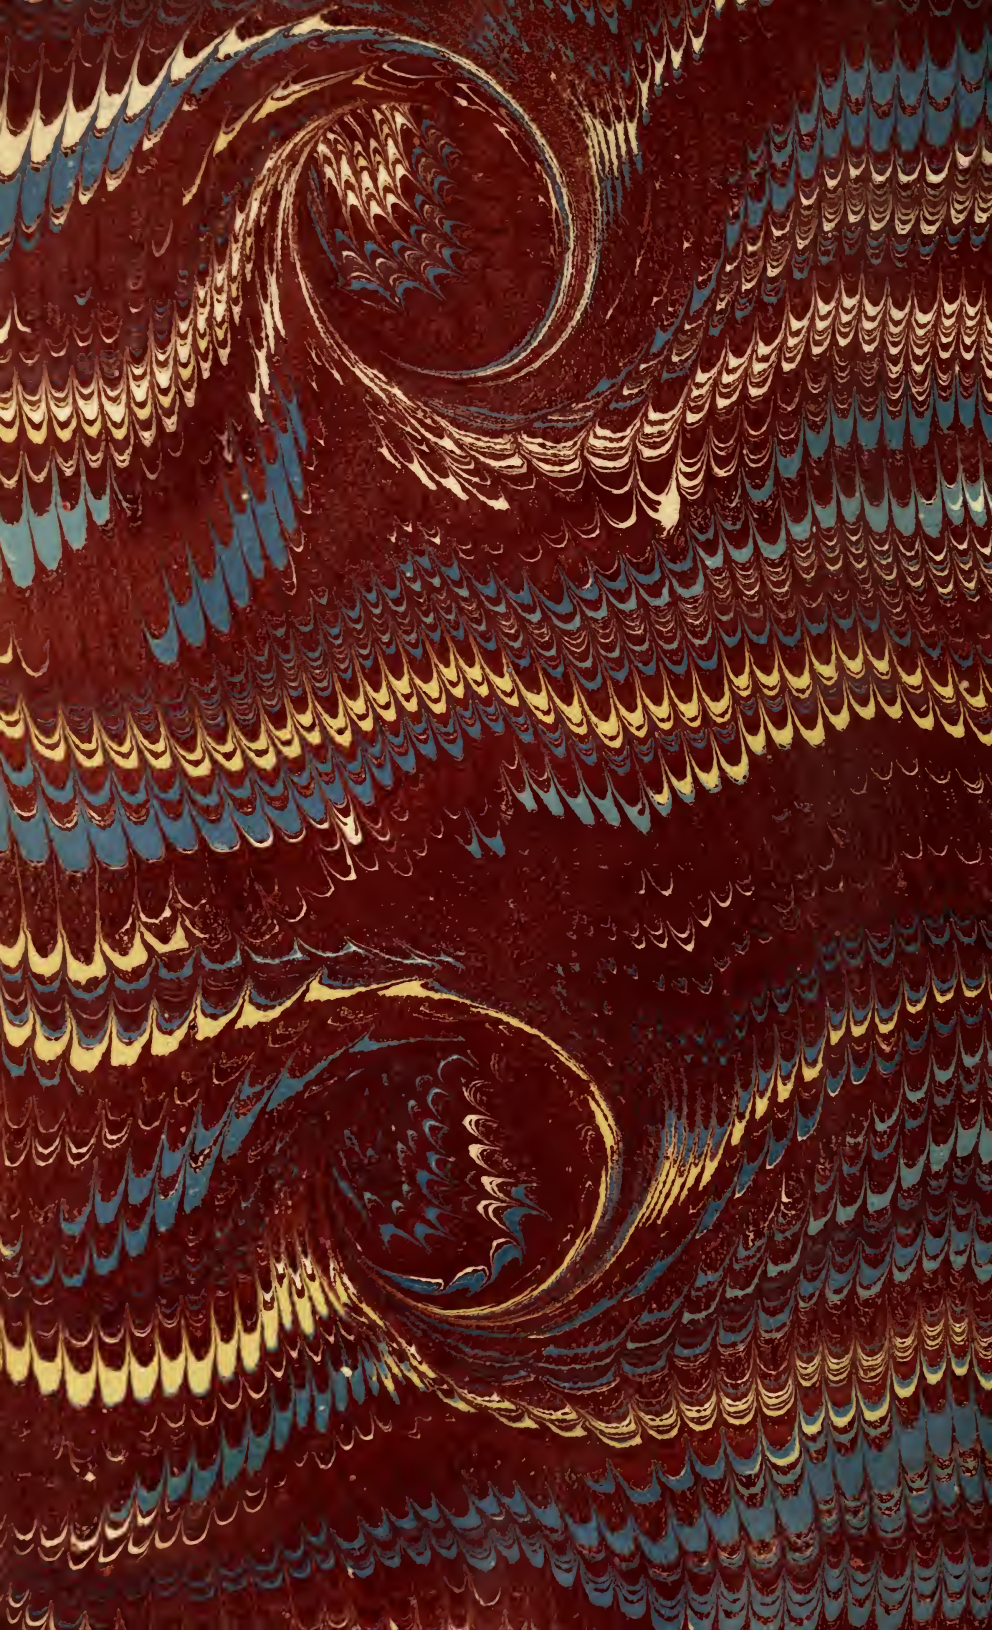

In Drowne's Commemorative Discourse, Edgar J. Bartow is said to have been baptised at Fishkill by Dr. Brown. His sister told me that she distinctly remembers the family driving over to their grandfather at Pelham Manor, where Edgar was baptised by Parson Bartow, and named "John" after his grandfather, John Bartow, of Pelham Manor, and "Edgar" after William Edgar, an intimate friend of the latter.
